(57) Abstract:

The present invention relates to an appropriate method of managing banana peels waste by thermal pretreatment to convert the waste into biogas encrm' cheaply by initially chopping the banana peels to reduce the particle size to increase their surface area before being placed into glass bottles or vessels which must be scaled and placed into a dry oven at 100±5°C for about 60±5 minutes. After the pretreatment, the banana waste is inserted into a fermenter and an inoculum which can be composed of freshly collected cow manure or inoculum from ongoing biogas plant running on cow manure as the substrate, or inoculum from a biogas plant running on food waste as the main substrate or inoculum from an ongoing biogas plant using domestic animal waste as substrate to form a 1 :3 ratio by volume. The fermenter is then placed into a water bath which is maintained at 37°C and stirred continuously. The fermentation system is made airtight to ensure there is no leakage or entry of external gas and conducted for a minimum of 27 days in order to ensure complete. fermentation/ 6, as production from the substrate.
